and tell Mr. Roberts about it. The rehabilitation program in this county is trying to make the fairest possible arrangement for owners and tenants alike. The pleasant relationship so far are gratifying. Coffee County bids fair to have a successful rehabilitation program as any county in the state.

Mrs. C. M. Bus honored her daughter, Carolyn, with a delightful party Monday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. & Mrs. W. W. Ham, the occasion being the celebration of her eleventh birthday anniversary. The children, on arrival, were invited into the back yard where they enjoyed a winter roast. Afterwards they were invited into the home where games and telling of stories were enjoyed. An attractive arrangement of red and green suggested the Yuletide season, formed the decorations. In the dining room the table was set in the center by the pretty birthday cake with 11 lighted candles. Delicious cake and punch were served. Before leaving the happy guests assembled around an illuminated Christmas tree and enjoyed a winter feast consisting of pop corn balls and candy. Assisting Mrs. Bus in serving and entertaining were Mrs. O. D. Rowe of Enterprise, Misses Sara Young, Cindy Whitman, Kibler, and Martha Mullins. Thirty-six guests were included in this happy affair.

The Schumann Music Club held an interesting meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Elizabeth Fleming. Dorothy Murphree presided, in brief business session, when plans were made for observance of Arbor Day. The topic of the program was "How Music Began." Piano selections were rendered by Marion Lee, Mary, Ida Isabel Whitman and Mary Will Kendrick. A salad course with hot chocolate was served. Each club member was presented with an attractive favor suggestive of the approaching Yuletide season.

Most interesting meetings of the Baptist WMS were held at the church last week when a season of prayer for missions was observed. Programs were rendered each afternoon. Little Moon offerings were received.

Mr. & Mrs. O. D. Rowe, Mr. & Mrs. D. C. Barnard and son Billy, and Miss Louise Liebert of Enterprise, were guests of Elba relatives Sunday.

It is reported that Mr. & Mrs. C. E. Dorsey intend to give Henry and Claude Dorsey, students at Alabama University, a trip to California as a Christmas present, to witness the Rose Bowl football game between Alabama and Stanford. Some Christmas gifts!

The financial report of Coffee County schools for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 and ending Sept. 30, 1954, showed total revenue of $32,547.13.

Many Know Math McCollough Farm

Clipper readers "sure enough" identified last week's Mystery Farm as belonging to Math McCollough on the Victoria Road. A total of 15 persons either called or wrote in to identify the farm. Mrs. C. E. Hudson, Rt. 5, was the lucky one to have her name drawn out of the hat for the free six months subscription to The Clipper.

Mrs. Math McCollough called in to say her husband was ill but very much wanted the picture. It will be reserved for him. This is the second time the McCollough farm has been shown as a Mystery Farm. Those identifying it were: Mrs. Grace Shiver, Jack, Mrs. Johnnie Spurlin, Mrs. Lawrence Rowell, Ray Hussey, Mrs. B. McCollough, Mrs. E. Bell, Victoria, Johnnie B. Spurlin, Mrs. Math McCollough, Mrs. Tim Ammons, Fred Moore, Earl McCollough, Ed Donaldson, Fabian Mobley, Mrs. C. E. Hudson and Estelle McCollough.

Which Country Is in the Worst Position?

Since the end of World War II newspaper readers in Elba have read about the many changes of French premiers until they are thoroughly confused and somewhat disgusted with France's performance. Needless to say there is a basis for believing that the French ship of state is listing badly.

However, if you would transplant a Frenchman into Alabama right now, he most likely would throw up his hands in disgust and ask to go back to his own country where the education of his children does not enter into political squabbles. Despite the many changes of government taking place in France, their schools sail along on an even keel, giving young French children a good education.

On the other side of the Atlantic there is never any question as to whether schools have worked in March or the teachers lose a pay raise. Through centuries of experience they have worked out a system of education that carries on in spite of wars, occupations and changes in government.

There is never any question as to whether or not Johnny will get Chemistry, a foreign language or Science. When he gets to a certain grade, no matter whether he is in Paris or a small village, his course is laid out for him. He has no elective subjects but

Small Farms in Coffee County Disappearing Fast

During the years 1950-54 increasingly large numbers of small farm operators (less than 180 acres) found it impossible to make a financial success of their operation and sold out.

Statistics from the 1954 Census of Agriculture show that for the four year period 1950-54 there were 107 farms with 10 to 179 acres disappeared in the county. Most of them were absorbed by larger units or bought up by big operations such as International Paper Company and Plack Lumber Company for reforestation.

First, let us say this trend is not necessarily bad. If there had been a good living in farming in Coffee County on a small number of acres, folks would not be leaving the farm as fast as they are. Evidently, for a lot of small farmers, a regular salary in "public work" such as a trailer plant or sewing factory, is much more attractive than tilling the soil on a limited acreage here. In many cases the large lumber and paper companies are actually doing a public service by taking eroded and spent land and putting it back into forests.

Another important factor in this emigration has undoubtedly been the severe acreage limitations imposed on the county's money crop—peanuts and cotton. A small land owner doesn't get a big enough allotment to make it attractive for him to stay on the land. Only history will tell whether this is good or bad for the county and country.

Category of farms showing the biggest drop in number was in the 30 to 49 acre group. In four years 205 farms of this size were lost to the county. In 1950 there were 179 and in 1954 there were 454. There were 174 fewer in the 50-69 acre category (1950—587, 1954—413), a drop of 174 in the 70-99 acre group (1950—586, 1954—411), a decline of 99 in the 100-139 acre farms (1950—488, 1954—389). Number of land owners with 10-29 acres decreased 63 (1950—257, 1954—194).

Under 10 acres the number of property owners increased 32 but this can probably be attributed to residents of Enterprise and Elba going outside the city limits, buying a few acres and erecting a house in which they live. In 1950 there were 104 farms under 10 acres and in 1954 the total was 136. Under three acres increased from 25 to 36 while those with 3 to 9 acres went up from 79 to 100.

It is not until the size of the farm in Coffee County reaches the 140-179 acre category does the decrease in number stop being heavy. Only four farms of this size went out of existence in the last four years. They numbered 244 in 1950 and 240 in 1954.

After land owners accumulated 180-219 acres, they increased in number. Coffee County had one more farm in this category in 1954 (135) than it did in 1950 (134). Persons owning 220-259 acres grew in number from 69 to 87 for a gain of 18 while the biggest growth came in those possessing 260-499 acres. In 1954 there were 32 more (1950—171, 1954—203). Nine more farmers owned 500-899 acres of land in 1954 (50) than in 1950 (41).

Persons or corporations owning 1,000 acres or over in the county increased from 13 in 1950 to 21 in 1954.

It is only for us to report the trend and not try to read the significance of it. To each businessman it will mean something different. As the pulpwood buyer and lumber man see more and more acres put in tree farms, they will plan expanded operations. As the cotton ginner and peanut buyer see tighter and tighter allotments, and fewer and fewer farms, they will restrict their dealings. What is important is that everyone know and realize the implications of this emigration and plan accordingly. The county economy is changing rapidly.

TB Chaimen Push Sale of Xmas Seals

Mrs. Una Edwards, Mrs. Everett Fuller and J. F. Brunson, Christmas Seal Chaimen for Coffee County, urge everyone to buy and use Christmas seals. Dollars are needed to keep the fight against tuberculosis in high gear. A goal of $1200 has been set for Coffee County and $275 has been raised to date. The Alabama legislature voted funds for the next two years to increase hospital beds for tuberculosis patients and to provide funds to keep those beds going.

If people will buy those little Christmas Seals, the 1955 Christmas Seal sale, and use them on all letters, Christmas cards and packages, those dollars will help keep the fight against tuberculosis going in this county.

AIR-GROUND TEAMWORK is featured in the radiation detection technique used by the Kansas University radiological monitoring team at Lawrence, Kan., some of whom are shown here. Dr. Frank E. Hoecker, team director (standing at car door), said that if a nuclear attack should come one of the team members would fly over suspected fallout areas taking radiation readings, which would be radioed along with the plane's location to the crew in the auto. They would plot the "hot" area on a map, then verify the information by sending two-man teams near the area on foot with test instruments and walkie-talkies. Results would be radioed to the state CP center and forwarded to the F.D.A. national headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich. (Lawrence, Kan., Journal World Photo)

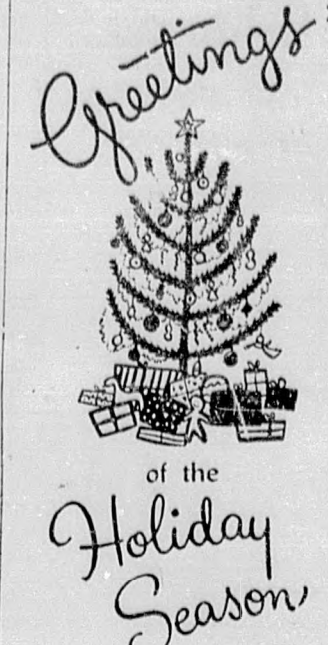

Revenue Service Will Make Limited Aid In Filling Out Returns

The Internal Revenue Service recently announced a nationwide policy of filling out income tax returns only for taxpayers who are illiterate, incapacitated or unable to read English. Other taxpayers will be assisted but they will do their own writing. H. S. Ward Jr., Internal Revenue Agent of the Troy office, said yesterday that the new method was used in several states during the 1955 filing period and that it was used in Alabama from March 25 to April 15. "The reason for this change is very simple," Ward explained. "The National office is trying to use the manpower which we all pay for to the best advantage of all taxpayers."

He pointed out that more than 8,000 men days were used on taxpayer assistance in Alabama from Jan. 1 to April 15 to go and treat a sick patient, or invest his hard-earned money to help start or save a small business enterprise that he felt was of benefit to the people of his community. Anyone looking under Dr. Bragg's professional manner would have found a heart of gold and his word was as good as gold. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family and friends of this great man.

County Christmas Seal Sales Bring in $385 of $1200 Quota

Mrs. Euna Edwards, Mrs. Everett Fuller and J. F. Brunson, Johnson's mother, Mrs. Sek Lee (Nellie Richardson) of Key West chairman of the 1955 Christmas Seal Sale in Coffee County today announced that $385 had been raised to date. The chairman stated a goal of $1200 has been set for the county, which they hope will be met. The sale of Christmas Seals, the only 100 per cent voluntary contribution the public is asked to make, is conducted each year during the Christmas season, in an effort to stamp out TB, a dreaded killer.

The public is reminded, said the volunteer TB chairman, that when Christmas seals are purchased it buys health-education, TB case-finding, fact-finding, rehabilitation and medical research—all aimed at the defeat of tuberculosis. Each pair of Christmas Seal twins are a reminder that a constant battle is being waged to combat TB, the disease that costs our state hundreds of thousands of dollars each year. The amount of suffering and unhappiness it causes its sufferers cannot be estimated; homes are robbed of their breadwinners; mothers separated from their children; old people, too, are frequent among the sufferers, and a vast majority of young people know the pain and sorrow of TB.

It is with these tragedies in mind that the TB committee of Coffee County is waging a relentless campaign against tuberculosis, hoping to prevent people from getting TB and hoping to return the sufferers of TB to a life of full usefulness. The Seal Sale will continue through the end of the year.

Share Croppers Come Under New Social Security Regulations

Share-croppers in this area should be interested in knowing that they are generally considered self-employed for social security purposes, announced Harry Scott, district manager of Dothan Social Security Administration today. This means share-croppers are building toward protection for themselves in their old age and protection for their families in case of their death. To qualify for the valuable family protection, they must have net earnings of at least $400 from their farming operations in a year.

Scott pointed out that share-croppers, like all farm operators, will report their earnings for social security purposes on the year 1955 by filing an income tax return with a farm schedule. Share-croppers must file these tax returns with the district director of Internal Revenue, Birmingham, early in 1956, in order to receive social security credits for their farming operations, even though they may not owe any income tax.

Under a recent interpretation issued by the Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration, sharecroppers in this area would be considered self-employed. The land owner, participating in the usual share-crop arrangement would be considered receiving income from the crop and would not have to report his income from his share of the crop for social security purposes, nor would he receive social security credit, Scott continued.

For tax return forms and other information relating to the filing of returns and tax obligations, contact the Internal Revenue office at Dothan. For information concerning your right to social security payments, contact your social security office at Dothan.

Modern Tastes Want Hams for Christmas Lean Meat, Not Fat Cost Little, Go Far

AUBURN—There aren't many folks in the U. S. today like Mr. J. H. Smith, who "could eat no lean." In one consumer survey, only one person in 221 preferred the fattest cuts of meat. Whatever meat they are buying, a variety of people want lean cuts and this preference holds true regardless of income level or other group differences.

"The demand for leaner cuts is one of the biggest factors affecting the future of the hog industry in Alabama and elsewhere in the nation," said API Extension Animal Industry Specialist G. B. Phillips this week in reporting the survey's findings. "What people spend for pork dropped 33 percent between 1947 and 1954, and the last week sales of hams plummeted largely on the failure of producers and packers to give the buyer the kind of pork he desires—cuts with lean and less fat."

In answer to the often-heard argument that meaty hogs are more expensive to produce than bony ones, Phillips said research has proved that the meatier hog is raised at a cost economically as the other. He added that farmers can produce this higher quality pork by selecting meat-type brood stock, feeding better rations and sending hogs to market at weights of 200 to 225 pounds.

FARM BRIEFS

Livestock and poultry on the farms at the beginning of this year were valued 42 percent below the record 1952 value. Dairy calves and heifers should have constant access to leafy green, fine stemmed hay. Housed layers eat more mash and lay more eggs than do birds left unconfined.

Don't let other livestock near lambing ewes. Sows will eat the baby lambs.

The size and health of pigs that'll be born next spring are being determined now in the care and feeding of gilts and sows.

January will be a good time for hog producers who need better farrowing facilities to

Nitrogen Topping

Increases Grain Yield

AUBURN—Farmers who plan to harvest small grain crops that are now being grazed are reminded that top-dressing of the animals are taken off can substantially increase the yield.

"Top-dressing should be started around Feb. 15," said API Extension Agronomist O. N. Andrews, adding that growers ought to line up supplies now to be sure of having the kind of nitrogen material they want.

According to Andrews, 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre is recommended for top-dressing. That much of the element can be secured in 150 pounds of ammonium nitrate or 300 pounds of nitrate of soda.

The agronomist cited a five-year research project at the River Coastal Plain Experiment station as proof that top-dressing small grain pays. He said the value of early top dressing was shown in reports that, which got the extra nitrogen on Feb. 15 made 10 bushels of grain per acre more than those not top-dressed until April 1. Andrews also pointed out that application rates affected total grain production. He said one which got no nitrogen made only 23 bushels of grain per acre. Top-dressing of nitrogen upped the yield to 41.8 bushels per acre and a 48-7-0 application sent the oat yield to 64.4 bushels per acre.

COTTON

A 1955 cotton crop of 1,045,000 bales is estimated for Alabama based on information as of Dec. 1. This estimate is unchanged from the November forecast and compares with the 1954 crop of 728,000 bales, and the 10-year average of 908,000 bales.

The acreage of cotton in cultivation July 1 is now estimated at 1,060,000 acres, approximately 5.5 percent above the estimate in July of this year and compares with the 1954 acreage of 1,180,000. Abandonment of acreage in cultivation July 1 including acreage removed to

Trend Seen Toward Medium Size Turkey

A trend toward an "on the fence" type of turkey is seen in the crop marketed in Alabama this year. The birds rising in popularity are the medium whites—particularly the Thompson Broad White breed. And the fence type birds span is that between the heavy and light breeds, the white-feathered fowl have the advantage of being marketable at light weights, although they are able to reach heavy weights.

According to API Extension Poultryman Hoyt M. Warren, figures on turkey production in Talladega County, which produces close to half the state's crop, indicate the gain whites are making. The Central Alabama county went from 6,000 heavy breed turkeys in 1954 to 67,000 this year, with whites making up a big part of the increase.

Household Hints

Scissors can be sharpened by cutting sandpaper with them. Yanking sheets off bed without loosening the corners is just asking for torn linens.

A vacuum cleaner brush should be cleaned frequently. If greasy, the brush can be cleaned with a non-inflammable cleaning fluid.

A toothpick is really too fragile to use for cleaning the crevices in elaborately carved furniture. But cotton-wrapped sticks or wooden skewers do the job quite well.

Oil cloth is the ideal cover for pantry and closet shelves. Long lasting, it can be cleaned easily. Luminous paint on light switches or strings will do away with that fumbling in the dark.

Two coat hooks, placed about six inches apart, are ideal for hanging often-used electric cord. January "white" sales are just around the corner, so now is a good time to look over household linens and determine your needs.

Patches for torn curtains can be stuck on with colorless nail polish. Even laundry "won't" undo these easy "stitches."

comply with acreage allotments, is estimated at 1 percent, leaving 1,050,000 acres for harvest. This compares with 993,000 estimated in September of this year, and 1,170,000 acres harvested in 1954.

The average lint yield per acre of 478 pounds for Alabama is the highest of record, 125 lbs. above the previous record-high yield of 1948 and compares with 288 pounds in 1954 and the 10-year average of 286 pounds.

REMOVING CANDLE WAX

If in spite of precautions, wax from the candle gets on your best table cloth, here's how it can be removed. Let the wax dry, then scrape away as much of it as possible. Next, place the stained cloth in a hot water bath and press with a warm iron until most of the wax has been absorbed. Finally, sponge with a cleaning fluid.

City of Elba

Through the Keyhole

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

"WELCOME to Elba and to anyone we've met. She is shown here wearing our message to Elba Jean (Carroll) Vaughan, Ted Vaughan's lovely new wife. Elba Jean is from Bethany and is so charming and as thoroughly nice as using Mrs. John Garrett's home as the setting and talking about our mutual friends. We also admired the many lovely antiques gracing our hostesses home and discovered a mutual love of them.

Our best wishes go to Elba Jean here in her new home. And we know her life here will be happy as she's a happy person.

THE ELBA MUSIC CLUB has asked me express their gratitude to Helen Ratner for the fine work she has done in forming and leading the Junior Music Club.

At the club's formation last year, Helen was named as sponsor. She has carried out her job in a most efficient manner, allowing the Junior Music Club members to enjoy all the benefits of her work without lifting a finger. And how we have all enjoyed that!

Last week the Junior Music Club brought the Auburn Players to Elba for a fine performance of "Night Must Fall." The attendance was unusually good and the play a notable one. So to Helen we all say "Thank you."

Favors were tiny bags of green net filled with rice and tied with pink ribbons. These were saved to toss at the bride after the ceremony.

The reception rooms were decorated with arrangements of chrysanthemums in shades from yellow to white.

During the luncheon, Miss Clark presented the honoree with a gift of silver. She in turn gave her attendants a remembrance of her wedding day.

Attending were the honorees, Miss Jane Haire of Andalusia, Miss Louie Gwynn Diamukes, Miss Tuleh Diamukes, Mrs. J. Richburg of Goshen, Mrs. Claxton Hornsby of New Brockton and Mrs. Donald Brantley of Atlanta, Ga.

HONORING last week's bride Totyue Diamukes Jones, a bridesmaid luncheon was given by Miss Mary Ann Clark at her home at high noon last Sunday.

The guests were served on small tables placed around the room which were covered with lay white cloth. Pink tulle and ribbons ending pink carnations to form miniature bouquets like the ones carried in the wedding centered each table. Favors were tiny bags of green net filled with rice and tied with pink ribbons. These were saved to toss at the bride after the ceremony.

The reception rooms were decorated with arrangements of chrysanthemums in shades from yellow to white.

During the luncheon, Miss Clark presented the honoree with a gift of silver. She in turn gave her attendants a remembrance of her wedding day.

Attending were the honorees, Miss Jane Haire of Andalusia, Miss Louie Gwynn Diamukes, Miss Tuleh Diamukes, Mrs. J. Richburg of Goshen, Mrs. Claxton Hornsby of New Brockton and Mrs. Donald Brantley of Atlanta, Ga.
